Industrial Visits

The institute has always taken initiatives to impart learning beyond the classroom. One of the various ways, it does this is by industrial visits. Every year the students are given opportunities to interact with industry professionals and get hands on feel, about how they function.

The first industry visit for this year was conducted at Haldia Petrochemicals Limited, located in Haldia, 80 kilometres away from the campus. Haldia Petrochemical limited was formed out of a joint venture between Government of West Bengal, The Chatarjee Group, the TATA group and the Indian Oil corporation in 1994. Not only did the students get a chance to interact with senior managers, but also a chance to get the overview of the whole plant spread across a huge area by special trip conducted by the company itself. The students were briefed about the process of production during the trip.

The second industry visit was conducted at Ramco Cements Limited, located at Kolaghat, 60 kilometers away from the campus. Ramco Cements Limited is a part of the Ramco group, that is based in Chennai. The students visiting the plant were given detailed insights into the cement industry. Along with that, the students were shown around the plant by a guided trip conducted by the staff of the company.

The third industry visit was conducted at one of India's leading shipyards, Garden Reach Shipbuilders and Engineers (GRSE). The GRSE specializes in building and repairing warships. Adhering to the strict rules and regulations of the company as it is a highly sensitive place, the students visited the company in small batches. The students got a chance to see and understand the basics of the ship building process right from the scratch by visiting the the most important shops of the factory. First, where the specialized steel for Naval ships are processed and the second were the blocks for the ships are fabricated. The visit concluded with a presentation, tracing its existence right from 1884, when it was incorporated.

71st Republic Day

India, the largest democracy of the world, got independence on 15th August 1947. However, India became a Republic on 26th of January 1950 and we call this day a Republic Day.

26th January is celebrated as Republic Day all over India. It indicates the completion of the country's transition toward becoming an independent republic. Republic refers to "a state where people enjoy supreme power, freedom and choose their own representatives". They got this tremendous power / freedom as India had got its new Constitution on this day. The adoption of the constitution marked India as the fully independent nation from Britain as it ended the role of Lord Mountbatten as the Governor General of India.

As Indians we should take this day as an opportunity to pay tribute to the glorious past of India and express gratitude towards your country for giving you a bright life and future.

India celebrated its 71st Republic Day this year, so did our institution with great enthusiasm at the campus.

The day started off with flag hosting by Director, Major General A K Sapra, VSM (Retd.) at the college premises followed by the national anthem and series of performances like patriotic songs, dance, rock band and skit by the students of AIMK upholding the spirit of patriotism as well as of democratic India. At last, the show came to an end with an enlightening speech by our honorable director sir.
